DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tseng (6332646). Note the first leg (12, 11, 12), second leg (22, 21, 22), seat frame (40), detachable connecting members (41, 41, 41', 41'). Note the inverted U-shape of the connecting members (see Figure 3). Also note that the connecting members have an inside formed with an opening facing downward for mounting the first leg or the second leg (see Figure 3).

Claims 1, 3, 4 and 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Housel (2649140). Note the first leg (2), second leg (other member 2), seat frame (23), detachable connecting members (20, 20, other set 20, 20, portion of 18 extending between each set 20, 20; see Figure 2). Note the inverted U-shape of the connecting members (see Figure 2). Also note that the connecting members have an inside formed with an opening facing downward for mounting the first leg or the second leg (see Figure 2). Additionally note the screw member and nut (22, as shown in Figure 2), each of the connecting members being detachably mounted on the first leg or the second leg (note the nut and screw member 22 can be released), wherein the connecting members are detachably mounted on the seat frame (by way of 18, 25, 26), as shown in Figure 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tseng (6332646) in view of Wallace (6102479).

Tseng shows all claimed features of the instant invention (as described above) with the exception of the second leg being pivotally mounted on the first leg by two screw members and two nuts. Tseng provides two pivots shafts (23) that pivotally mount the second leg on the first leg.

Wallace conventionally teaches pivotally connecting two members together with a screw and nut assembly (177, as shown in Figures 4 and 5).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the pertinent art at the time of the instant invention to modify Tseng in view of the teachings of Wallace by substituting a screw member and nut (177) for each pivot shaft (23). The screw and nut provides the advantage of a pivotal connection that can be selectively disassembled.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 5 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

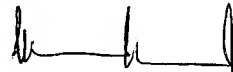

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. A foldable chair assembly is shown by each of Aycock (5975626), Yao (5893604), and Greiner (3385630).
